View this email in your browser

The recent market volatility has been unsettling and concerning. However, it's important to put this in perspective and realize that volatility is part of long term investing. Right now fear and emotion are driving the markets. Please realize that your portfolios are well diversified, and we are monitoring this situation very closely.

We don't recommend trying to time the market, and we don't recommend panic selling when the markets are down.

We are still here and still care.
